

November 28, 2003

Dear Staff:

You are attempting an impossible task that will no doubt confirm global issues that civilization will have to face.

My only comment is that you need to impress Congress with the fact that money for campaigns is out of order and must not enter into policies that pertain to preserving planet earth.

The oceans are our immediate watershed, Global warming notwithstanding. There is no more time for study if we are to avert a crisis for which action may be irreversible!

Thank You and Good Luck,

Cordially,
Werner Loell